Baltimore, Maryland—Design Collective, Inc. is pleased to announce the hiring of three Senior Associates and two Associates. With these new employees, we look forward to the continued growth and success of our firm.

THOSE PROMOTED TO SENIOR ASSOCIATE INCLUDE:

STEWART WHITE, SENIOR ASSOCIATE

Prior to Design Collective, White's accomplishments included environmental art and graphics for the Rangers Ballpark in Arlington, Texas, conceptual design for an urban mixed-use project in Teiping, Taiwan and murals in many restaurants and hotels. Since joining our firm, he has been the creative force behind urban mixed-use projects in St. Louis, Mo., Cleveland, Ohio, and Wroclaw, Poland.

SCOTT MCGOVERN, AIA, SENIOR ASSOCIATE

McGovern brings an impressive portfolio of urban mixed-use projects including his work at the National Harbor project in Oxon Hill, Md. With the firm, he is currently the project manager for two exciting retail/residential mixed-use projects in Baltimore and Raleigh, N.C. McGovern received his Bachelor of Architecture degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

ADAM MORRIS, AIA, SENIOR ASSOCIATE

With over 23 years of professional experience, Morris brings to the firm his knowledge of commercial and urban mixed-use projects, including the University Town Center Mixed Use Development in Hyattsville, Md. Since joining the firm, he has played an integral role in the Ballpark Village project in St. Louis, Mo. Morris received his Bachelors from the University of Virginia and a Master of Architecture degree from Rice University.

JOSE MORALES, ASSOCIATE

Before joining the firm, Morales accumulated over 12 years experience working on critically acclaimed entertainment projects including Inner Harbor East in Baltimore and Atlantic Station in Atlanta, Ga. Currently, he is the project manager for the Ballpark Village project in St. Louis, Mo. Morales received his Bachelors from the University of Puerto Rico and a Masters from the University of Maryland, College Park.

MICHAEL HORACE, RA, ASSOCIATE

Horace has gained extensive experience in urban, mixed-use, high-rise projects. Over the past 15 years, he has worked on many successful projects including the Bowie Town Center in Bowie, Md., and the North Bethesda Center in Bethesda, Md. Since joining the firm, he has worked on both the Wyomissing Square mixed-use project in Wyomissing, Pa., and the University of Maryland, Baltimore Administration Building. Horace received his Bachelors from the Pennsylvania State University and a Master of Architecture degree from Cornell University.
