Baltimore, Md. - Design Collective, Inc. is pleased to announce the promotion of two new Senior Associates and one new Associate. Those promoted include:

COREY CHANG, AIA, LEED AP, SENIOR ASSOCIATE

With over 13 years of experience, Corey brings to each project his skills in the development of architectural detailing and design, consultant coordination and project research. He has played an integral role in many complex higher education projects. Corey, who received a Bachelor's degree from the University of Florida, was recently promoted to Senior Associate.

ERIC WOHNISGL, RA, LEED AP, SENIOR ASSOCIATE

Eric, a new Senior Associate, has played an integral role in Design Collective's projects with the University System of Maryland. With over 13 years of experience in medium- and large-scale institutional facilities he is skilled in development and design. Eric received both his Bachelor and Master of Architecture degrees from the University of Maryland.

MEGAN DINICOLA, LEED AP, ASSOCIATE

Megan joined Design Collective with five years experience in the architecture industry and was recently promoted to Associate. During this time, she has amassed an impressive portfolio of urban mixed-use, student housing and retail projects. Megan is a LEED accredited professional. She graduated from Carnegie Mellon University in 2002 with a Bachelor of Architecture degree.

"Each individual promoted has demonstrated their commitment to furthering the growth of Design Collective, and has proven to be genuine assets in all endeavors. At Design Collective, we look to the leaders within to move our firm towards its goals," said Dennis Jankiewicz, AIA, President, Design Collective.
